

Relationship Building

“It’s the little conversations that build the relationships and make an impact on each student.”

-Robert John Meehan

2 x 10 Model

Building authentic and meaningful relationships are essential for supporting the social and emotional well-being of students, which in turn helps them to get ready to learn.

Try dedicating 2 minutes per day, for 10 days talking with a student about an interest or topic not related to last nights’ homework!
